Westminster Collection

The Hertfordshire based live music solutions company, NSN productions, have been invited to join the prestigious Westminster Collection. This is a great honour for any company that provides live entertainment for events, however for NSN this completes a highly successful year so far. NSN were finalists in this year's FSB Business Awards in the Service Excellence and Staff Training and Development categories. They have also been placed on the preferred suppliers list of some of the top hotels and country clubs in Hertfordshire and London and a number of multi-national companies and major Event Management companies.

So what is the Westminster Collection? It is a group of venues that work together to expand business tourism in one of the most in-demand boroughs of London. Since its creation in 2003 the Westminster Collection has helped businesses and individuals set up events in some of the finest venues in Westminster, including the Royal Courts of Justice, Banqueting House and One Whitehall Place.

The Collection has also compiled a list of associates that they believe provide a high standard of service. To be included on the list a company must demonstrate an excellent level of professionalism and understand that first-rate service is a prerequisite for the collections business. By being invited to be included as an associate, NSN productions have shown that they encompass these ideals and that they deliver a high quality service to clients. Company Director Susan Heaton Wright said "We are delighted to have been invited to become an associate member of the Westminster Collection. The range and quality of the venues is fantastic, and we feel very honoured that our company has been recognised as having the qualities valued by the Westminster Collection. We are looking forward to getting to know the venues, and having the chance to organise music within Westminster.”

With over 25 years of experience of performing in, organising and providing live musical entertainment, company founders Susan Heaton Wright and Neil Simon have learnt what goes into providing an excellent service. Each event is bespoke to meet individual’s needs, so whether you’re planning an international conference or a romantic dinner for two they are sure to organise perfect live music to enhance any event. The company can boast extremely positive testimonials from corporations such as BskyB and venues like Hanbury Manor, and has won WOW awards for outstanding customer care. They offer a wide range of musicians from jazz musicians, Gospel Singers and Cover bands, to String Quartets, Singing Waiters and Tea Dance Musicians. Live music transforms an event to a memorable occasion.

Having already provided musicians for a great variety of events, NSN have proved they are ready to work with Westminster Collection venues but becoming a member of the Westminster Collection will also enable NSN productions to prove they are a leader in organising Live Music and illustrate why they have gained such a positive reputation.
